Writing

Stephen King, a one of the most ^{successful} ~~successful~~ writers of our time once said: "Talent is cheaper than table salt. What separates the talented individual from the successful one is a lot of hard work."

In my opinion, the meaning of this phrase is simple: every human has a talent. But if you want to become successful in ~~any~~ ^{it} work you do, you must work hard.

I totally agree with this quotation, because I think, that in this life everything costs you either your money or time, and if you want to be the best in something, you must study hard.

To follow my opinion, I want to give an example of a hard-working human that gained success from their talent. Through her whole life, Sylvia Palth tried to earn money from her talent in writing. In 1961-1953 she published the book that made her world wide famous:

"Under a glass cup". To this day - Sylvia is one of the most known female writers, and I believe that only hard work made ~~up~~ her so popular.

Another great example is Marie Curie. Despite being a woman, she became a famous chemist and now is considered one of the most successful female scientist of the world. She gained this status due to her dangerous job and scientific researches that gave chemistry a huge boost as a science.

I believe that anything is possible if you try hard enough. Everything is in our hands and our destinies, too.
